Domino : Rhodopes East (Bulgaria) 1:120,000 Touring Map Perperikon Tatul Ruins before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Rhodopes East (Bulgaria) 1:120,000 Touring Map Perperikon Tatul Ruins:

Rhodopes East (Bulgaria) 1:120,000 Touring Map Perperikon Tatul Ruins This is a double-sided, detailed road map at 1:120,000. The scale is also suitable for cycling. On one side is a detailed road map of the eastern part of the Rhodope Mountain along the Greek border. Coverage extends from Zlatograd in the south-west to Svilengrad in the north-eastern corner. Topography is shown by contours at 50m intervals with faint relief shading and spot heights, plus colouring for forested areas. Boundaries of protected areas are indicated. All place names apart from selected towns plus locations cross-referenced to the descriptions are given in Cyrillic alphabet only. Road network includes dirt roads or tracks and selected local paths. Railway lines are shown with stations and stops. Various places of interest are highlighted by small drawings and/or cross-referenced to English language descriptions next to the map. The map has no geographical coordinates or an index. Map legend includes English. Also provided is a street plan of Zlatograd with a brief description of its sites and a Bulgarian only legend. The whole of the reverse side is taken up by 3-D drawings of the archaeological remains at Perperikon and Tatul, with bilingual notes.
