John Fort, Rachel Piercey : Rome Walks (On Foot Guides) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Rome Walks (On Foot Guides):

PollardThis book had great info but our itinerary changed and we'll only be in Rome for one day. It was depressing me to keep the book knowing I'd miss out on some great walks. :) The book was a little tall for the cross body Haiku bag I would be using, so that would worry/bother me a little if I'd kept it, but the info in it looked great. Seller has been easy to work with on the return. 0 of 2 people found the following review helpful. take it with you By john capano I am going to Rome in march . Would not go without it . I feel it will help me a lot . I will use this book to map the walks that I planned using frommers site online . I'm ready .

The newest addition to a revolutionary series, Rome Walks gives the sensation of being given a personal tour of the Eternal City by a lifelong resident. It illustrates each walk with four full-color, aerial-view, three-dimensional maps that evoke an immediate sense of what the walk is like and what will be seen along the way. The routes are comprehensive but not overwhelming, allowing users to easily connect neighborhoods, parks, and noteworthy sights at their own pace. Most walks are one to two hours in length and can be combined for longer walks as time permits, making them ideal for busy tourists or inquisitive locals. Lively, informative text gives accurate, discriminating information on all the must-sees, such as significant landmarks, and offers plenty of personal insights and advice—including where to eat, drink, and shop along the way. Full-color photos of top attractions round out the contents of this clear, easy-to-use guide.
