John Fort, Rachel Piercey : Rome Walks before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Rome Walks:

PollardThis book had great info but our itinerary changed and we'll only be in Rome for one day. It was depressing me to keep the book knowing I'd miss out on some great walks. :) The book was a little tall for the cross body Haiku bag I would be using, so that would worry/bother me a little if I'd kept it, but the info in it looked great. Seller has been easy to work with on the return. 0 of 2 people found the following review helpful. take it with you By john capano I am going to Rome in march . Would not go without it . I feel it will help me a lot . I will use this book to map the walks that I planned using frommers site online . I'm ready .

This updated 2nd edition of this delightful walking guide whose unique selling point is walking routes on 'bird's eye view' (isometric) mapping. Not just this, but the walks are informative and fun. Exploring Rome with this guide is like being taken by a friend who knows all the best restaurants, shops and attractions. It will introduce not only the famous sights but the atmosphere of the city as a whole. The new and contemporary cover emphasises these benefits, making it clear that the beautiful mapping is uniquely easy to use because it shows the street plan as well as the look of your surroundings. The routes are in all the most interesting areas of central Rome, plus a few on the outskirts. Most are about an hour long or can be joined together easily for long expeditions.
