National Geographic Maps - Adventure : Scotland (National Geographic Adventure Map) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Scotland (National Geographic Adventure Map):

Realizing that it will not work well as an on-the-go map in a vehicle I bought this to use in the car. Very nice quality with coated paper making it water-resistant and tear resistant. I use the Michelin map for pre-trip planning, marking the various sites I want to visit but it will stay in the hotel room to be consulted only there. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Anything National Geo does is quality By 2sequoyah Well done map; wish it showed some of the less commonly traveled roads. Other than that I'm satisfied. 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Great map By Customer Love the waterproofing of this map. Very sturdy. I used this for a road trip around Scotland and it worked fine.

• Waterproof • Tear-Resistant • Travel Map National Geographic's Scotland Adventure Map provides global travelers with the perfect combination of detail and perspective in a highly functional travel tool. Whether you are taking in the local culture, playing a round in the "home of golf," or climbing one of Scotland's many peaks over 3,000 feet — a feat known as "munro bagging" — this is the map to get you there. Cities and towns are clearly indicated and easy to find in the user-friendly index. A road network complete with distances and designations for roads, motorways, expressways, secondary roads, and more will help you find the route that's right for you. With specialty content to include hundreds of diverse and unique recreational, ecological, cultural, and historical destinations, this map is a perfect companion to any guidebook. Start your adventure at the Cairngorm Plateau, the highest continual expanse of mountainous terrain in the whole of Britain. Visit the village of Dunkeld, a highland gateway village and the ancient capital of Scotland. Along the way you'll see the great Loch Ness and the ruins of Urquhart Castle. The northern half of the print map covers the Western Isles, the Isle of Skye, and the cities of Inverness and Aberdeen. Inset maps provide greater detail of the Orkney and Shetland Islands. Glasgow, Edinburgh, and the lowlands are covered on the other half of the map. Every Adventure Map is printed on durable synthetic paper, making them waterproof, tear-resistant and tough — capable of withstanding the rigors of international travel.
