From Verlag Anton Pustet : Slovenia: Architecture - The Masters The Scene before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Slovenia: Architecture - The Masters The Scene:

This publication follows tracks and offers a 'taste' of the extraordinarily rich architectural heritage of a small country like Slovenia; it does not attempt to present a complete history of architecture of Slovenia in the 20th century; it is intended as a first overall view for the curious visitor or traveller - interested historian or passionate architect - and as a companion for a visit on site and as an introduction to an as yet unknown architectural culture.

About the AuthorAdolph Stiller is an architect. Teaching and research activities in Geneva, Zurich, Paris and Vienna. Curator of numerous exhibitions, articles in magazines and catalogs. Editor of the series "Architektur im Ringturm".
