Joze Borstnar with Tessa Brner : Slovenia la Carte: All you ever wanted to know about Slovenia before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Slovenia la Carte: All you ever wanted to know about Slovenia:

Discover Europe's hidden gem and gateway to surrounding destinations! The book is written in two parts for English speaking readers who are interested in discovering Slovenia's beautiful tourist destinations, meeting local people and seeing how they live, work and have fun. Part One (182 pages) is about the social and political history of Slovenia from the 7th century until 2016 and information on where to go and what to see in Slovenia today. Part Two (82 pages) is the story of Joze's father unusual and heroic life as a Partisan commander in The Slovene Partisan Army during World War 2 and as a prominent Slovene politician afterwards.

About the Author Joze Borstnar is Slovene and lives in Ljubljana, the capital of Slovenia and studied economics at the University of Ljubljana. All his adult life, Joze has been actively involved in the tourism industry. Tessa Borner is a British/Canadian journalist who lives in Canada and Costa Rica and has published her own two books: "English Girl, German Boy" - World War 2 From Both Sides and "Potholes to Paradise" - All You Need to Know About Costa Rica.
