National Geographic Maps - Adventure : Slovenia (National Geographic Adventure Map) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Slovenia (National Geographic Adventure Map):

Unfortunately, this map did not make it out of my bag the entire trip. While Slovenia is a small country, it is too big to fit on one map. The map lacks enough details to be useful for both trails and roads. Save yourself the money and buy a road map in country and a trail map specific to where you want to hike.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Heavy duty, should take handling wellBy msreduchMaps often tear at their folds when they get lots of use. I had high hopes for this one, and I wasn't disappointed.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Heather KarstensGreat!

- Waterproof • Tear-Resistant • Travel MapNational Geographic's Slovenia Adventure Map is designed to meet the unique needs of adventure travelers with its detailed and accurate information. This map includes thousands of cities and towns with an index for easily locating them, plus a clearly marked road network complete with distances and designations for highways, major roadways, scenic routes, and more. Transportation within and beyond the country is also made easier with the locations of airports, airfields, railroads, ferry routes, and border crossings. Myriad points of interest are noted including national parks, museums, castles, archeological sites, churches, and more. Sloveniaâ€™s western half is shown on the front side of the print map including the cities of Kranj, Ljubljana, Nova Gorica, Postojna, Litija, and Kocevj. The reverse side of the map covers the eastern portion of the country, and shows the cities of Velenje, Celje, Novo Mesto, Crnomelj, Maribor, Murska Sobota, Ptuj, Slovenska Bistrica, and Brezice. Once a founding member of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, Slovenia declared its full sovereignty in 1991 and is now the richest Slavic nation in the European Union. It is the third most forested country in Europe and over a third of the area is protected. Its picturesque mountain ranges are popular with hikers and skiers while some of its most unique attractions include over 9,000 karst caves, thermal spas, the worldâ€™s oldest grapevine, and a large number of casinos. One of the most biodiverse countries in the world, Slovenia offers travelers a wonderful opportunity to enjoy breathtaking natural wonders and a wide variety of diverse experiences in a relatively small region. Every Adventure Map is printed on durable synthetic paper, making them waterproof, tear-resistant and tough — capable of withstanding the rigors of international travel.
