Ord Survey : Southern Scotland Northumberland Map (Road Map) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Southern Scotland Northumberland Map (Road Map):

The eight maps in this series, released in May 2001 by the Ordnance Survey, are designed to include everything a driver needs to explore the country. A journey can be planned in advance, making full use of the colour-coded roads, restricted motorway junctions and mileage guides. They even include height and steep gradient information, making them ideal not only for motorists but also for long distance cyclists and caravanners. From major cities to small villages, each map features a unique gazetteer inside the cover to simplify the task of finding your destination. Tourist information is also included for day trippers and holiday makers including Caravan sites, historic buildings, gardens and country parks, themes and much more.

About the Author Ordnance Survey is Britain's national mapping agency, responsible for the official, definitive mapping of the whole country. They produce and market a wide range of maps for educational and leisure purposes, as well as producing computer data products for government, business and administrative use.
