

(Free download) Tea in the City: London

Tea in the City: London

Jane Pettigrew, Bruce Richardson
*ebooks | Download PDF | *ePub | DOC | audiobook*

Download

Read Online

#2816065 in Books 2006-10-25 Original language: English PDF # 1 .26 x 4.52 x 8.00l, .32 #File Name: 0966347889114 pages | File size: 43.Mb

Jane Pettigrew, Bruce Richardson : Tea in the City: London before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Tea in the City: London:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Tea in LondonBy Mallary F LondonI love this little book. I get a big kick out of going to tea when in London. Although I knew about the "famous" tea experiences, I appreciated the detailed information, including the menus at each place and whether there were any "special" tea menus to ask about such as the child's tea. The book profiled some places I had never heard of and that sounded great. Next time I am in London, I definitely will bring this slim guide.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great little bookBy Andrea D WebbI used the Paris version a few months ago and it was absolutely right on in it's coverage. Heading to London and I'm sure this will be just as great to find all the great tea spots there as well.7 of 8 people found the following review helpful. Tea in the City - LondonBy Brenda G. WilliamsAlthough I cancelled this book order when I found out it would not be published in time for my trip to London, IT CAME ANYWAY, WHILE I WAS IN LONDON. I decided to keep it when I found the hotel where I stayed and enjoyed tea, The Montague on the Gardens, in the list of recommended places to have tea. I have had tea in many London locations, but the chocolate tea at the Montague was outstanding.

Jane Pettigrew and Bruce Richardson have combined their knowledge of the London tea scene to bring readers a thorough guide to all things tea in the city that made the beverage famous. This travel book tells you about the well-known and little-known tea rooms, tea shops and historical sites in the London area. Neighborhood maps, 150 color photographs and detailed directions make sure you find the tea experiences you desire. The Tea in the Cities series is an unequalled resource for tea lovers who visit London, New York and Paris.

This unique guide is a treat for both local tea lovers and international visitors who will now be able to explore the wide range of tea experiences on offer in London today. This well-researched, beautifully photographed book delivers hours of pleasure exploring, sipping, and shopping for the cup that cheers. And those who do not have the opportunity to actually visit can savor a hint of London's most important contemporary tea shops, tea rooms and tea lounges through the descriptions and colorful images. A number of the tea venues listed in this volume are also members of the Tea Council's prestigious Tea Guild - an association of British tea places that has worked with vigor and dedication to raise standards and to increase awareness of quality tea over the past 15 years. --Bill Gorman, Executive Director, UK Tea CouncilLeaf tea is surprisingly hard to find and Tea in the City: London is a most welcome guide to the true brews. --Hattie Ellis, author of Tea: Discovering, Exploring, EnjoyingAbout the AuthorThere is no one with more first hand knowledge of the London tea scene than Jane Pettigrew. She became involved in the world of tea after opening her teashop in southwest London in 1983. Since then she has written a dozen books on tea and one on coffee, including The New Tea Companion. She served as editor of Tea International and the tea editor for Tea and Coffee International. She speaks regularly around the world at professional tea conferences and has consulted with many of the fine hotels of London for their afternoon tea service. Bruce Richardson is the author of six books on tea including The Great Tea Rooms of America and Looking Deeply into Tea. He travels to London annually to update his Great Tea Rooms of Britain book. He is a frequent speaker at tea events across America and a regular columnist for Fresh Cup and TeaTime magazines. He has been a tea importer and blender for many years and is the owner of Elmwood Inn Fine Teas. He serves as producer, co-writer and photographer for the Tea in the City travel guides.